

TOWARD THE GREAT OCEAN—2, OR RUSSIA'S BREAKTHROUGH TO ASIA

Valdai Discussion Club Report

ISBN 978-5-906757-01-2

9 785906 757012

Toward the Great Ocean—2, or Russia's Breakthrough to Asia

Valdai Discussion Club Report

Moscow, February 2014
valdaiclub.com

Executive Editor and Head of the Authors' Group

Sergei Karaganov

Dean of the Faculty of World Economy and International Affairs at the National Research University – Higher School of Economics; Honorary Chairman of the Presidium of the Council on Foreign and Defense Policy (CFDP); D.Sc. in History

Project scientific supervisors

Sergei Karaganov

Dean of the Faculty of World Economy and International Affairs at the National Research University – Higher School of Economics; Honorary Chairman of the Presidium of the Council on Foreign and Defense Policy (CFDP); D.Sc. in History

Victor Larin

Director of the Institute of History, Archaeology and Ethnography of the Peoples of the Far East, Far Eastern Branch of the Russian Academy of Sciences; D.Sc. in History

Authors

Igor Makarov

principal author, lecturer at the Department of World Economy, National Research University Higher School of Economics; Ph.D. in Economics

Oleg Barabanov

Head of the Department of Policy and Functioning of the European Union and the European Council, Moscow State Institute of International Relations; professor at the Department of International Affairs, National Research University – Higher School of Economics; D.Sc. in Political Science

Timofei Bordachev

Director of the Center for Comprehensive European and International Studies, National Research University – Higher School of Economics; Ph.D. in Political Science

Evgeny Kanaev

professor at the Department of International Affairs, National Research University – Higher School of Economics; D.Sc. in History

Victor Larin

Director of the Institute of History, Archaeology and Ethnography of the Peoples of the Far East, Far Eastern Branch of the Russian Academy of Sciences; D.Sc. in History

Vladimir Ryzhkov

professor at the Department of International Organizations and European Integration, National Research University – Higher School of Economics; Ph.D. in History

The views and opinions of authors expressed herein do not necessarily state or reflect those of the Valdai Discussion Club.

Contents

5	Synopsis
9	1. Toward the Great Ocean: From Calls to Action
9	1.1. The 2012 report Toward the Great Ocean , or the New Globalization of Russia: main theses
10	1.2. The pivot to the east two years later: What has changed since the publication of the report?
16	2. Economic and Political Processes in the APR and Russia's Place in Them
16	2.1. Asia's growth in the face of new challenges
19	2.2. The growing conflict potential of the Asia-Pacific region
22	2.3. The "demand for Russia" in Asia-Pacific countries
30	2.4. Increasing Russia's integration on the Asia-Pacific region
34	3. Siberia and the Far East: Redefining Risks and Opportunities
34	3.1. Threats
40	3.2. Opportunities and capabilities
45	3.3. A new understanding of the situation in Russia's Arctic
50	4. International Cooperation for the Development of Siberia and the Far East
50	4.1. Siberia and the Far East as room for compromise
51	4.2. Economic interests of foreign partners in Siberia and the Far East
54	4.3. Foreign partners' interests in the development of Russia's Arctic regions
59	4.4. Barriers to international cooperation in the development of Siberia and the Far East
62	5. Toward a New Development Strategy for Siberia and Russian the Far East
62	5.1. A philosophy for the region's development
64	5.2. Toward new management practices for Siberia and the Far East
68	5.3. A transport framework for Siberia and the Far East
71	5.4. Northern Sea Route as the heart of Russia's Arctic regions
74	Notes